1v1 Defense on "GO" (progress to 2v2)

OBJECTIVE: Implement the basic techniques of defending 1v1, 2v2

ORGANIZATION: Partners, passing and moving, each staying generally on their own side of the field. On "go" the partner without the ball immediately pressures the ball, utilizing proper techniques. Ball-carrier plays 1/4 speed, then half, then full, trying to cross the end line. Introduce body shape, angle, curved run, etc. Progress to groups of 4, 2v2 defending, KEY WORDS: 1v1: body shape, angle, quick feet, balance, control, restraint, what's the goal (delay? disrupt? dispossess?), curved run. Who is in control in the 1v1 situation? Who controls the tempo - technical proficiency leads to tactical dominance 1v1. 2v2: same technical points for pressure defender, but now add angle/distance for cover defender. GUIDED QUESTIONS:

NOTES:

5v4

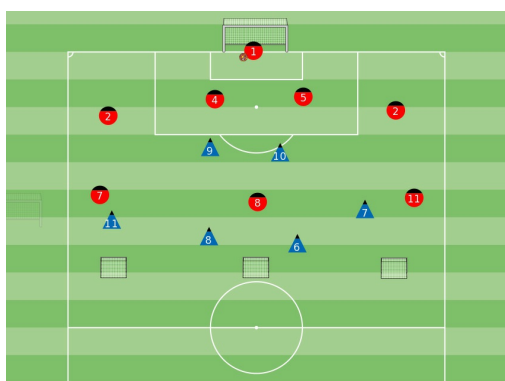

OBJECTIVE: Implement correct technical/tactical defensive principles to overcome numerical imbalance by isolating opponent and dispossessing them of the ball.

ORGANIZATION: Large grid, 4v4 plus 1. Directional, offense attempts to possess into end zone, defense attempts to isolate, win back ball, have a quick pass/shot to keeper who is behind the line, communicating.

KEY WORDS: Defend the space - isolate an area of the field and force the offense into low-percentage escapes. Pressure defender with good technique, curved run, communicating with team as to direction of pressure. Cover defender angle as well, communicate. Balancing defenders cut off angles, isolate area of the field. Watch for triggers on the GUIDED QUESTIONS:

Offense vs Defense

OBJECTIVE: Improve the ability to recover the ball with forward players.

ORGANIZATION: Defending team plays to big goal, attacking plays to three small goals just before midfield.

KEY WORDS: Pressure defender technique, good communication for pressuring angles, Cover defender spacing, angle. Key is #9, #10 moving laterally to isolate the field and cut off one side. Forcing ball-carrier into pressure. Everyone watch for high-press triggers, react and communicate together. If team in possession escapes press, quick transition to GUIDED QUESTIONS:

Scrimmage

OBJECTIVE: Implement techniques and tactics practices in earlier stages of the session in a FIFA rules game

ORGANIZATION: Two teams, full field depending on numbers. Formation 1-4-4-2 or a similar formation for one side having 4-2 up front and the other having 4-4 behind to simulate numerical differences.

KEY WORDS: Containing opponent in their own defensive half, defending to force opponent into low percentage situations. Techniques of individual defending, techniques of zonal defending, triggers for high pressure.
